"As a pastor who prizes principles over systems when it comes to the Church, I admire the commitment that IPS has to analyze issues, not from a pragmatic perspective, but from the perspective of God's timeless Word."

- PASTOR STEVE WALKER, Central Valley Presbyterian

"This is my third time to attend the IPS Government class. Each time has been a rich experience in the study of godly foundations and our constitutional government. Same class—deeper understanding each time! Mike's ability to logically break down a subject and surface rational truth is uncanny. Anyone who goes through this course will have the foundations of their opinions challenged, and learn the tools to compare them with eternal truth."

- ANONYMOUS

"I would recommend this course to every Christian who is serious about understanding what God's word specifically says about government and what our role should be in it."

- HENRY DOTINGA

ABOUT

The Bible is more than our source of faith and practice. It contains God's wisdom for every area of life. Unfortunately we often fail to take advantage of everything that the Bible has to offer.

Biblical Principles of Government will help you in your journey to build a more complete worldview based on biblical principles. Starting with the creation/evolution debate, you will learn to better defend the biblical creation account and you will learn why almost all other societal issues depend on this foundation.

In the area of government, you will learn principles that were familiar to many of our founding fathers, but which have not been taught in American classrooms since before the Civil War.

This course will cover government, history, economics, education, charity, and the proper role in society of the family, the church, and the state. It will also cover good and bad decision making processes and teach you to identify which is which.

This is an adult class, but it is still well suited for high school and junior high students. This is also a popular family class that will create many positive family discussions, so we encourage whole families to take it together. Homework is very light, but by special arrangement a more thorough and rigorous homework load can be assigned.

REGISTRATION

Advance registration is required.

Register online by going to

PrincipleStudies.org and clicking on "Events".

COST

The class itself is free, but there is a $20.00 charge for the required study guide which is non-refundable. If you've already been through the course and own a study guide, then this requirement is waived. Only one study guide per family is required, however each student may want their own study guide for practical use. For the cost conscious, an entire family can take the 10 week course for only $20.00. When you register, please indicate the number of study guides you wish to purchase.
